

CALIFORNIA STATE UNIVERSITY, FULLERTON
1985

A caretaker makes sure this big fella keeps cool and calm. The giant pachyderm provided rides and quite a bit of amusement to visitors at Silver Jubilee Day.

Orange Crush members dressed for the occasion as they tie balloons near the Cal State Fullerton "beach". The Quad was flooded with 64,000 gallons of water along with truckloads of sand to create water recreation for Silver Jubilee visitors.

Student government officials from the 60's, 70's and 80's gathered in a reunion at the University Center in April to celebrate 25 years of student leadership at CSUF.

CSUF President Jewel Plummer Cobb

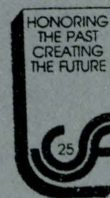

To the 1985 Senior Class,
May I, at this time, extend to you congratulations for the successful completion of your undergraduate or graduate career at Cal State Fullerton.

As you have studied, discussed,
explored and assimilated literally hundreds of new concepts, theories and facts, you have contributed to the spirit, strength and vitality of our campus. You will, I'm sure, continue to contribute your talents to society as you apply the knowledge and wisdom you have acquired while at CSUF. To have achieved your academic goals during the past years you have exercised discipline and energy. May you sustain the disciplined commitment and focused energy of your CSUF years in the future

as you tackle new projects.

The years you have spent at CSUF have been years of maturation, acquisition of knowledge and accumulation of wisdom.
We know that you have received a strong foundation on which to build your future careers, whether your interests lie in the arts, the humanities, the sciences or the professions such as business, teaching or engineering. You have a bright future ahead of you. I wish you good luck to add to your knowledge and skills.

We look forward to keeping in close contact with you, an important person —
an alumnus of the university.

Conference of CSUF Alumni President A. Terrance Dickens

On behalf of CSUF Alumni may I congratulate you for completing your degree program at Cal State Fullerton . . . and welcome you to the Conference of CSUF Alumni. (You are automatically a member as you graduate from the university.)

We hope your years at the university have been full of personal growth. CSUF has tried to contribute significantly to your life by helping you know as much as possible about yourself and the world around you.

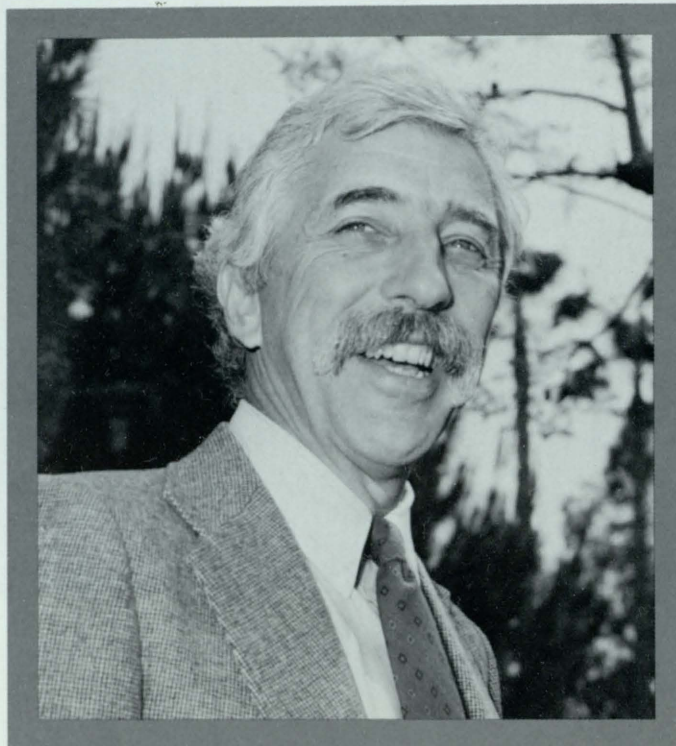

As a member of the alumni organization, you retain many of the privileges granted to students, among which are use of the library and recreational facilities, as well as group or reduced rates for a variety of campus events. We will also keep you informed about University activities through our quarterly newsletter, Titan News.

We invite you to enter into a new kind of reciprocal relationship with the university — one in which we serve each other. Keep in touch with us, and come back to campus often to participate in various alumni programs and university-wide events.

All of us wish the very best of everything to each of you.

School of the Arts

Dean
Jerry Samuelson

The blue flowers of the Jacaranda have once again burst forth upon the landscape and we know that graduation is at hand.

On behalf of the faculty of the School of the Arts, I extend to you our very best wishes and continued success in your arts endeavor in the future.

The twenty-fifth anniversary celebration has lasted throughout this school year and we are proud to honor many of our past graduates in special performances, exhibits and receptions. It has been a time to reflect on the growth of the school and on the many accomplishments of the faculty and students — honoring the past.

We now look to this graduating class to begin the next twenty-five year segment of our history and to the fulfillment of the second half of our 25th anniversary motto — creating the future.

School of Business Administration and Economics

Dean

Thomas L. Brown

Congratulations on completing an important step in your professional education. You should now be academically prepared for a lifetime of learning, and the faculty and staff of the School of Business Administration and Economics applaud your achievements.

I hope you will always consider your School as an important resource throughout your life, and remember that faculty and staff will be available to help you. I hope, too, that you will help the School by becoming involved in the School Council of Alumni. Our Alumni Council is an enthusiastic and supportive group which has a strong commitment to students and alumni alike. Continued involvement in the educational environment will enrich your life.

I celebrate your academic achievements and wish you much success in your personal and career goals.

School of Human Development and Community Service

Dean

Peter Facione

If there is only one attitude that I hope that you, as graduates of the School of Human Development and Community Service, would exhibit in your careers, that attitude would be one of caring professionalism. The caring professional is a person who treats people as people, not a machine who treats people like things. He or she is one who is knowledgeable both technically and theoretically, understanding and being able to explain not just what to do, but how and why it is done. The caring professional is responsible to the needs of the profession itself, including the need to attract the best persons as professional colleagues. Caring professionals seek new and better ways to serve; they treat the profession as something they become, not just as jobs they do. Integrity and a constant pursuit of excellence in practice are hallmarks of the caring professional. Active pursuit of continuing professional renewal and growth are seen as essential.

As you continue your careers and grow in ability, you will learn things that would help us here at CSUF achieve our goals as caring professionals to continually improve our programs. We expect and welcome your advice. We seek and we need your support. We look forward to a relationship with you as colleagues with mutual interests and concerns.

School of Humanities and Social Sciences

Dean

Don A. Schweitzer

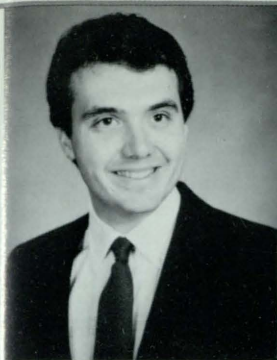

Speaking for the faculty and staff of the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, I offer sincere congratulations to you, the 1985 graduates of CSUF.

Obtaining an academic degree should be a source of justified pride. I hope that from time to time throughout your life you will reflect on this accomplishment and on those experiences, both bitter and sweet, which led to it. Now is probably not the best time to decide whether the effort you expended was worthwhile, because the critical-thinking ability and value orientations that are the hallmark of a Liberal Arts education are not always discernable at graduation. Rather, as students from these disciplines begin to make significant life choices, the effectiveness and value of their education begins to appear.

Over the course of your formal education, several people have tried to teach you how to learn. As before, it is hard to know at graduation whether they have succeeded. If they have, then you will be recognized as truly educated people and you will succeed in whatever is ahead for you.

For the faculty and for myself, I extend very best wishes for a successful, rewarding and fulfilling future.

School of Mathematics, Science, and Engineering

Dean

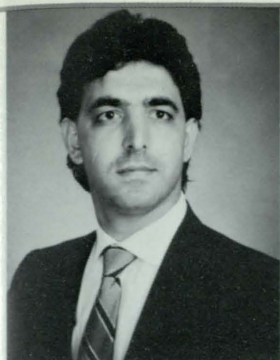

A. James Diefenderfer

Congratulations on successfully completing this stage of what I hope will be your continued education and personal and professional growth. You can be proud of what you have achieved, and we are proud to have you as alumni of our school.

Graduation marks the step forward from a period in your life when you were learning new skills and abilities, to a period when our society will ask you to use your skills with sensitivity and sophistication to shape the ways in which technology affects all of us in our global village. Each difficult question that you successfully answer, each problem that you successfully resolve, each professional goal that you achieve reflects directly on those of us who helped prepare you for this next step. We are confident that your abilities and the education that you have received at Cal State Fullerton will allow you to meet this challenge with imagination and wisdom.

All of us who are affiliated with the school and the university wish you every success in life. While you have been at this university you have helped us to succeed by asking hard questions and demanding that we meet your expectations. As you leave us, we hope you will remember your experiences at Fullerton as positive ones, and find that they give you support in your continued growth as you embark on the next step toward the future.
